MONDAY, JUNE 8, 1767.

BOSTON, June 8.

Tuesday last the following ADDRESS was voted by the Honorable House of Representatives, to be presented to his Excellency the Governor, in answer to his SPEECH at the opening of the present Session of the General Court: And last Thursday a Committee of the House presented the same.

May it please your Excellency,

HAVING duly considered your Speech at the opening of this Session; the House of Representatives beg Leave with great Sincerity to say, That there is nothing which they more ardently wish for than a mutual Confidence in the several Branches of the General Assembly, and a happy Unanimity in such Measures as shall best promote the Prosperity of His Majesty's Government, and the Peace and welfare of his Subjects of this Province: At the same Time we must freely declare to your Excellency, that during the whole Period of that general Calamity and Distress, which you chuse to denominate "a popular Uneasiness," we do not recollect a single Act done by the Representative Body of this Province, which could have the least Tendency to interrupt a general Harmony, so essentially necessary for the valuable Purposes of Government; nor can it, in our Opinion, without great Injustice be supposed, that had there been in Reality nothing more than a groundless popular Uneasiness, it would have been suffered to intermix with their public Councils, and occasion a Breach of Confidence.

We are obliged to say, that there is the deepest Concern among the People of this Province, that after they have shown every possible Mark of Loyalty, it has yet been represented to his Majesty, that a Degree of ill Temper remains in his Colony of Massachusetts-Bay. The Letter from the Secretary of State, which your Excellency communicated to the last Assembly, leaves no Room to doubt but that such a Representation has been made. Permit us, Sir, just to observe, that nothing will tend more to conciliate the Minds of this People, than to give us the Opportunity to make it evident to our Constituents, that you have had no hand in in such Representation. Such a Measure might tend to remove that Concern, and to restore a Unanimity to this General Court: And we rely upon that Assurance you have given us, that you will heartily concur with us in all Measures which shall be conducive to so salutary a Purpose.

You are pleased to make an open and express Declaration, that you do not mean to decline the full Exercise of the constitutional Powers with which you are vested. We are fully convinced of it: Nor have we the least Desire that you should ever decline a deliberate and wise Exercise of those Powers. —Your Excellency, will however allow us to say, that there is such a Thing as an indiscrete Use of Legal Power, of which this House have a right to form their own Judgment.

Your Excellency tell us, that you desire to temper your Authority with all possible Moderation: Whether you have not already, since the opening of this Session missed the fairest Opportunity of making evident such a Disposition, is a Matter that is now open to the Judgment of the World.

You have not been pleased to point out the Business of this Session; but strongly recommend to us to shorten it, as the Season of the Year requires: We are sensible, there are Matters that immediately concern his Majesty's Government of this Province, which properly now come before us: These we shall dispatch in as short a Time as will admit of a due Deliberation upon them: Unnecessary Disputation we shall avoid. Your Excellency tells us we must have observed how very expensive it is: If you refer to the Disputes of the last Year, we do not judge them so far as we have observed, to have been unnecessary or protracted beyond due Bounds: We are sorry there was Occasion given for them; but in our Opinion the late House of Representatives are not chargeable with it. As the Rights of this People are now entrusted to us, it is our indispensible Duty to maintain and defend them: We hope none of them will be drawn into Question; but should that be the Case, we are bound in Conscience to contend for them, and therefore we shall not think the Dispute on our Part unnecessary, or the Time employed in it miss-spent. vide Pa 658

Meſſieurs EDES and GILL,
Pleaſe to inſert the following friendly Letter to Dr. Young.

SIR,

IT gives me great concern that I have been ſo unhappy as to fall under your diſpleaſure: Yet as I am not ſenſible of having merited it, you muſt excuſe my not making any acknowledgment of my offence.

You called upon every Phyſician on the continent to give their opinions upon the point in debate between Dr. Whitworth and you—At your requeſt I delivered my ſentiments, at leaſt with honeſty and impartiality; and tho' they are very different from your's, I cannot think that alone a proof of their being erroneous. I expected to have found ſomething in your defence that might have appeared a little like truth and reaſon; but I confeſs I have been diſappointed, whether by my own want of apprehenſion, or your unlucky manner of writing, I leave others to determine. You object to my method of ſtating the caſe; yet I believe it was as exact as could be taken from any thing publiſhed upon the ſubject: And it is moſt certain that you have not even the leaſt cauſe of complaint, ſince I admitted for truth every thing which you related, (however improbable it might appear to me and to every one elſe) it was from your own hiſtory of the caſe, that I inferr'd the imprudence of your conduct; and therefore I was under no neceſſity of proving that "the abſolute reverſe of your repreſentation was true."

You have indeed in your laſt performance denied that there was purulent matter expectorated at the time of your taking away the blood. It is to be obſerved, that this negation comes in by way of prop, to a cauſe which you ſeem ſenſible required ſome ſuch extraordinary ſupport.—But unfortunately for you, Dr. Whitworth's declaring there was purulent matter conſtantly expectorated, will gain as much credit as your ſaying there was not; eſpecially as his opinion is corroborated by the whole account given by the perſons who attended the patient in her chamber.—But you ſeem to be ſenſible that the expedient of denying will not effectually anſwer your purpoſe; you have therefore in caſe of danger, provided yourſelf with another reſource, by promulging a doctrine, which could it be maintained, would be of ſignal ſervice to your cauſe. You ſay, "that be the cauſe of that violent pain and difficult reſpiration what it will, bleeding is the alone remedy." This, had it fallen from any pen but your's might have deſerved a ſerious refutation: But as the world in general know better, and very little regard is likely to be paid to your authority, it is ſufficient to remark, that in your next ſentence you contradict yourſelf, where you ſay "that when a tumor in the lungs or any where elſe is too far advanced to be reſolved, bleeding is then improper." Now I ſuppoſe that even you will allow that after a tumor in the lungs has arrived to ſuch a ſtate as to be incapable of reſolution; violent pain in the ſide and difficult reſpiration may and often do take place before the breaking of the abſceſs. Upon the whole, I muſt freely own that your laſt publication has by no means alter'd my opinion of the impropriety of your taking away blood from your patient. I ſhould with much greater pleaſure approve your practice, (if I might with honeſty) than condemn it; for believe me, Sir, I do not envy you the friendſhip of thoſe perſons whoſe extraordinary fancy for all kind of exotics induces them to eſteem you; nor do I feel the leaſt paſſion excited by the idle reflections which you thought fit to caſt upon me.—I only look upon them as the genuine productions of your very particular genius. But really when you attempt to put on the phyſician, and criticiſe upon the remarks which I made upon your practice, you are truly diverting. You blame me for ſaying that the ſuppreſſion of expectoration cauſed a lodgment of matter upon the lungs; and in order to convict me of error, you produce a quotation from Dr. Whitworth, where he ſays, that the purulent matter is abſorbed by the depleted blood-veſſels. Now altho' I am not under the leaſt obligation to defend any thing which Dr. Whitworth has aſſerted, or to make my judgment conform to his theory; yet in the preſent caſe I cannot find that our opinions are at all incongruous; for it is well known to phyſicians, that whenever there is a lodgment of purulent matter, there is conſtantly an abſorption of ſome part of that matter into the circulating maſs of blood. You are likewiſe pleaſed to ſneer at the eſtimate which I made of the diminution of the vital force which your patient ſuffered by your taking away her blood: no doubt you fooliſhly eno' imagined that the loſs of a ſeventh part of the blood, could not diminiſh the vital force, more than one 7th: had this been the fact, you might juſtly have cenſured my arithmetic; but indeed this criticiſm of yours, inſtead of being a proof of my inaccuracy, is only a proof of your being quite unacquainted with calculations of this kind. But if you have "inclination and abilities" to read the experiments made by the ingenious Dr. Hales, on the bloods and blood veſſels of animals, you will find that I have not been at all extravagant in my computation.

My "trailing diſcourſe on relaxation," as you are pleaſed to call it, I would again recommend to your peruſal, for it is poſſible you may not rightly underſtand it, as it is upon a ſubject confeſſedly new to you, (tho' I believe from the days of Hippocrates to the preſent time, no phyſician beſides yourſelf, was ever ignorant of it)—As to the authors which you have quoted in your defence, and on whom you ſeem ſo greatly to rely, I have as great a reverence for their authority as you; but I would not implicitly follow any one; nor can I think that a curſory reading of them can any way intitle a man to the character of a phyſician.—Their deſign can never be underſtood, unleſs they are cloſely attended to; they have no doubt contributed greatly to the improvement of the medical art; but, detached ſentences from them, will never ſupport irrational practice: they always expect that their general obſervations ſhould be applied with judgment, and proper regard to particular circumſtances. In the preſent caſe you have by no means rightly conſtrued their intention; and it might be eaſy to condemn you by thoſe very witneſſes whom you have ſummoned for your juſtification, ſeveral of whom earneſtly caution againſt bleeding in the laſt ſtage of conſumptions.—But there need be no more ſaid in a caſe ſo plain. All who have knowledge enough to admit of conviction, are fully ſatisfied of your egregious miſtake in acting in direct contradiction to the plain indication of nature, in ſuppreſſing an evacuation, on which alone your patient's life depended; by which means thoſe terrible ſymptoms were brought on, which (as the divine Hippocrates juſtly remarks upon the ſuppreſſion of expectoration in a pulmonary phthiſis) do always prove fatal. But I would have none imagine from the foregoing that I have any averſion to the lancet; I am ſenſible of its uſefulneſs, and when properly applied, have frequently known it eminently ſerviceable: but I ſhould always wiſh to ſee it in ſkillful hands; & I would have every one endeavour as far as poſſible to follow the advice of the juſtly celebrated Aretæus, who ſays in his chapter upon vomiting blood, Een de o aſthenecoon ichnos kai leiphaimos Ee, mee tamnein phleba.

To conclude, I heartily wiſh you an increaſe of knowledge, and a conſequent diminution of the high conceit which you at preſent entertain of your own abilities; and until you diſcover ſome marks of theſe, I ſhall give myſelf no further trouble with ſo untractable a genius.

I am, Sir, with the greateſt benevolence,
your humble Servant,
PHILO PHYSIC.

[PHILO PHYSIC is deſired to excuſe our not inſerting his Quotation from Aretæus in Grecian Letters, as we have no Greek Types; but a Friend has given us the Words in Engliſh Letters, which we hope are as correct as the Difference of the Alphabets will admit of.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.

Extract of a Letter from Barbadoes, dated April 24 } 1767 }

"ABOUT Seven o'Clock this Morning we had a Shock of an Earthquake, which lasted about a Minute, but did no Damage; about Fifteen Minutes after, the Sea on a sudden fell several Feet (it being low Water) and left the ground in the Dock bare, then rose again several Feet, so that the Water would have come over the Wharf, had not the Tide been out; immediately after it fell so low as to leave the Boats dry on the Ground, and directly the Sea came tumbling in again with great Force, then rushed back with the same Rapidity, and continued ebbing and flowing in this Manner about half an Hour. It is imagined, from these Appearances, that a dreadful Earthquake has happened in some Part of Europe, as the Earthquake at Lisbon occasioned the same Flux and Reflux of Water here, though it was not attended with an Earthquake."

Saturday last his Excellency John Wentworth, Esq; the late appointed Governor of New-Hampshire, came to Town by Land from South-Carolina.

NEW-YORK, June 1.

The English Prints received by the Packet up to the 12th of April, are barren and contain little or nothing relative to American Affairs; but by some private Letters we learn, That a late Act passed in Boston, called the Indemnity Act, has given much Disgust to the Inhabitants of Great-Britain, and to the House of Lords in particular; who, we are told, immediately voted that every Minute relative to that Matter should be ordered to be erased out of the Journal of the Proceedings of the House of Assembly of the Province of Massachusetts-Bay: That little or nothing had been done by Parliament, with Regard to America, but that the 24th of April was fixed upon to begin with our Affairs; and that it was generally supposed we should have Permission granted for the emitting Paper Money as a legal Tender: That three Ships of 74 Guns, were getting ready for America, & were to take on board the 16th (Gisborne's,) and the 26th (Scott's) Regiments for New-York; the 18th, (Sir John Seybright's) for Philadelphia; and the 10th, (Sandford's, late Pool's) for Quebec; and that three Regiments now in America would be sent Home in the same Ships.

BOSTON, June 8.

Thursday last Our most Gracious Sovereign King GEORGE the Third, enter'd the 30th Year of his Age. On which Occasion, His Excellency's the Captain-General's Troop of Guards, Company of Cadets, and the Regiment of Militia of this Town with the Train of Artillery mustered;—The Guns at Castle William, the Batteries in this Town, &c. were fired at One o'Clock: and the Day was spent in other Demonstrations of Loyalty and Joy.

Monday last being the Anniversary of the Election of Officers for the ancient and honorable Artillery Company, the following Gentlemen were chosen for the ensuing Year, viz.

Thomas Marshall, Esq; Captain.
Richard Boynton, Esq; Lieutenant.
Mr. William Bell, Ensign.

Prievous to the Choice the Company waited on his Excellency the Governor, the Honorable His Majesty's Council, &c. to the Old Brick Meeting-House where a Sermon suitable to the Occasion was preached by the Rev. Mr. Shute of Hingham, from those Words in Eccl. IX 18—Wisdom is better than Weapons of War.—After which they proceeded to Faneuil-Hall, where an elegant Dinner was provided by the Company; and in the Evening the new elected Officers made a generous Entertainment, when many loyal Healths were drank.

Last Tuesday Morning died very suddenly Mrs. Tabitha Ruddock, Wife of John Ruddock, Esq;—whose Remains were interred last Wednesday Evening.—Her Husband laments the affectionate Consort—her Children the tender Parent—her Servants the indulgent Mistress—the Poor a compassionate Friend, and the Church of God a sincere and exemplary Christian.

THE Subscriber hereby informs the Publick, that he has provided a Stage Coach that will carry 6 Passengers, and is ready to carry Persons to the mineral Spring at Newtown. The Coach will set out on Wednesday the 17th Instant, at 5 o'Clock in the Morning to return at Noon, and goes out again at 2 in the Afternoon to return at Evening, and will proceed regularly every Day in the same Manner if suitable Encouragement be given. Each Person to pay 4*s.* Lawful Money to be carried and returned the same Stage. Those who intend to go in the Morning, to leave their Names and Places of Abode at the Sign of the Lamb the Evening before, and for the Afternoon Stage, the Morning of the same Day and they shall be waited on.

N. B. If a full Company offers, he is ready to proceed to Stafford Spring as he formerly Advertized JOHN WOOD.

We hear from Newbury-Port, that on the 29th ult. the Congregation whereof the Rev. Mr. Lowel was late Pastor, voted his Widow £.30 Lawful, per Annum, during her Widowhood.

We hear that two Men was kill'd last Thursday at Casco-Bay by the Lightning.

INTELLIGENCE EXTRAORDINARY.

Whoever doubts, whether a certain G——r has been justly charged with having endeavour'd to prevent the repeal of the stamp-act, and the procuring of regular troops, let him read the pamphlet just republished for the fullest proof thereof—It is truly astonishing and cannot but affect the most insensible heart to see the treatment a loyal and generous people have receiv'd from their G—r and a junto.

We may appeal to the annals of New-England, whether this people have ever been so insulted by any former G——r, as to have their house of assembly dictated, to chose such agents and councellors as he wanted.

If that —— who must have more assurance than any ever had before him to hold up his head to this people after the late discovery, could have had influence enough to have obtain'd an election for his favorites, it must have serv'd to convince our enemies that we are prepared to receive the chains he has been so laboriously forging for us.

The enemies of our constitution have been greatly mortified at the honor done the negatived councellors by their several towns and the two houses of assembly, some of them wanted but a few votes to make their choice as councellors unanimous.

The report of a motion for thanks to S——n S——d, Esq; of C——d for his late very delicate and judicious discourse is premature, said gentleman not having as yet owned himself to be the author of the least part of that performance.
